

Introduction for Jerry Traylor

Over the past 30 years Jerry Traylor has inspired listeners in 49 states and abroad with his story of hope and ability. Over 1 million people in more than 4,000 audiences have heard his message.

Born with cerebral palsy, Jerry has reached physical goals few others have.

He has

- climbed to the top of 14,110-foot Pikes Peak three times
- competed in 35 full-length marathons
- and jogged 3,528 miles across America, from San Francisco to New York City
- all on crutches.

The late Dr. Norman Vincent Peale said of Jerry:

“Jerry Traylor is a motivational doer. That way he is more convincing when he tells people what it takes to achieve difficult goals --- for they know he has achieved many.”

Yet, Jerry’s message is not about overcoming cerebral palsy. His message is about the remarkable contribution all of us can make in our workplace and community. His humor and his heart will make a permanent impact as he inspires each of us towards achieving difficult goals.

You’re not about to simply hear a talk. You’re about to learn a new way of thinking and doing!
